My Father Like Mentor

I was a 25 year old, emotional, hot hotted girl in January 2014. I was employed somewhere else in Sahiwal . There was a tough issue in my life due to which I was severely fed up. . I wanted to run away from my work place. It was January 2014 . On a cold morning, as I stood in the rushy queue to enter UMT for interview, my mood worsened due to pushing and shoving. It took 30 minutes of conversations with three different guards to locate computer science department, as I finally turned left to main building, two female students crossed me running and bumping into me . Oh no, I thought as I looked at my bag and documents spread on the ground. This is the worst day in my life I should not have come, I further enhanced my self – pity. "Here beta , let me help you ", suddenly a gentleman , with the most energetic aura and the most uplifting smile appeared from somewhere . Despite wearing an expensive suit, he bent down and picked up my file of documents. " Yeh Kon Tha Yaar " , I stood there with my mouth wide open , too awe struck to say thank you – though feeling much better. Later in my interview, in my department, I was introduced to that round – glasses man , as Rector of UMT. I can write a full book on how each interaction with him made me a better; considerate in so many ways, but this was the moment when UMT became home. This was the incident on which I decided, working here will not be for salary. I will give this job as much sincerity as I give matters of my home. He was truly a father like mentor, May Alah give him the highest rank in Jannat. It will take forever to overcome this loss.
